

MERRILL LIBRARY SUMMER READING MADLIB

Visit the library each week and ask a Librarian for a secret word with the correct part of speech.

*If you miss a week, it is perfectly okay to ask a librarian to give you a word from the past week. Be warned, there is no going ahead. Try it and we might have to make you walk the plank!

| | |
|---|---|
| WEEK 1, June 17-24 adjective: | noun: |
| WEEK 2, June 25-July 1 noun: | type of container, plural: |
| WEEK 3, July 5-July 8 adverb: | body part: |
| WEEK 4, July 11-13 verb, past tense: | noun: |
| WEEK 5, July 18-22 verb: | exclamation: |
| WEEK 6, July 25-29 adjective: | number: |
| WEEK 7, August 1-5 verb: | noun: |
| WEEK 8, August 8-12 noun: | Put it all together and read the mad lib! |

BETTER THAN GOLD

It was a _____(adj) night at sea and things weren't looking good for Captain

Merrill. The crew was downhearted and their _____ (noun) were getting soggy from the _____(noun). Suddenly, Captain Merrill remembered the _____ (type of container, plural) of treasure that had been found on the last island they visited. Cap _____ (adverb) tiptoed down to the brig and picked up one under each _____(body part) and hauled them back upstairs to the deck. The crew _____ (verb, past tense) around as Captain used a _____ (noun) to

_____ (verb) the locks. " _____!" (exclamation)

Inside, gleaming and _____ (adjective) were _____ (number) books. The Captain lifted the closest book and _____ (verb) it. One by one, the crew forgot their _____(noun) and sat down, drawing closer to the Captain as they listened to the _____ (noun).